'A must have book for the collector and those with a passionate interest in the Art Deco movement' -- Retirement Today

Encompasses Deco style at its most alluring. --Antiques Diary

A treasure trove of design inspiration and reference. --Glass Présentation de l'éditeur

In the 1920s and 30s Art Deco influenced everything from art and architecture, interiors and furnishings, automobiles and boats, to the small personal objects that are part of everyday life. The items in this thematically structured book demonstrate Deco style at its most alluring. They were then the height of fashion, and are highly prized collectibles today. They demonstrate an era of close cooperation between designers and manufacturers, who aimed to produce goods that were not only fit for purpose, but also well made and beautiful. This informative showcase of portable classics of avant-garde modern design from Britain, Europe (particularly France) and the United States will appeal both to collectors and to anyone with an interest in Deco style and the history of fashion, taste and design. It is the first book to bring together the small collectibles from cigarette cases and lighters to powder compacts and cosmetics accessories, watches, jewelry, even cameras that demonstrate the style, glamour and sophistication of the Jazz Age. Biographie de l'auteur

Rodney Capstick-Dale has collected Art Deco extensively since the late 1960s. In 1987, with Mark Glazebrook, he founded the original Albemarle Gallery, London.

Diana Capstick-Dale trained as a graphic designer before completing an MA degree in stage design at the Central School of Speech and Drama in London and working as a set and costume designer.
